

The screenshot displays the Acrobat.com Labs Presentations application interface. At the top, the menu bar includes 'ACROBAT.COM LABS', 'Presentation', 'Edit', 'Arrange', and 'Help'. Below the menu, there are controls for 'Slide' (set to 'Title Slide'), a color palette, and a zoom level of '1.0'. The main workspace shows a slide with the title 'Welcome to Acrobat.com Presentations' and the subtitle 'Adobe's New Presentation Tool'. The slide content includes a large image of a presentation room with several screens displaying various slides. On the left side, there is a 'Slides' panel with a 'New Slide' button and a list of four slides. The first slide is highlighted with a yellow border. The bottom of the interface features a 'Share' button, the author's name 'Wolf Siebert', and a 'Play Slideshow' button.

